

EXTREME® BI-METAL RECIPROCATING SAW BLADES

Innovative tooth geometry and patented alloy for faster cuts and longer durability

SPECIAL TOOTH GEOMETRY

Extremely fast cutting as well as increased durability for optimum cuts. 8% higher cobalt content (M42) for an extra long life.

PATENTED ALLOY

Alloy of the HCS body directs the thermal energy generated during the cutting process from the teeth over the blade body into the material to be cut. For a twice as long durability.

AGGRESSIVE ANGLE

Hardened shaft with aggressive angle ensures more stability and longer durability.

APPLICATION PICTOGRAMS

To identify the application areas of each blade.

FEATURES: Bi-metal construction, as a combination of HCS bodies and cobalt-alloyed HSS-cutting • Aggressive tooth geometry with a special new angle. For a fast and effective removal of material, especially for tensile and abrasive metals • Ideal for extreme applications as well as demolition and demolition work.

For use with reciprocating saws (cordless and corded).
